

"Monsters are real, and ghosts are real too. They live inside us, and sometimes, they win." Stephen King

House Entity and Family Dynamics

There's not a week goes by without someone contacting us in regards to problems with their home, and I have written many articles describing various cases. There can be many reasons why the family home is impacted by misguided energies and entities. In the following case, an entity was created by negative family dynamics culminating in an explosive argument. The effects were very disturbing and our client described how visiting grandchildren were too frightened to sleep in a particular room. Our client also described an experience of a heavy presence holding them down during the night. This is how we explained it to our client. Names and some details have been changed for the purpose of anonymity.

We have reviewed your situation and believe the energy/entity affecting your home, is to some degree self created. We all carry imbalances from time to time in our life and these can include negative energetic attachments. Indeed, these attachments often take advantage of existing imbalances whether they be physical, emotional or mental...it's all part of the human journey. What can also aggravate the experience is the presence of ancestral/hereditary influences, handed down from generations in the past. The experiences you have described in your home, is a common scenario presented to us by people who have recently moved into a property. Having not experienced any phenomena in their previous home, strange occurrences at their new address must mean a problem with the property. But much of the time, it's never quite that straight forward. What we commonly find is that existing energies in the home react with the unbalanced energies of the new occupants leading to energetic chaos, for want of a better term.

This can come about from the energies of the previous occupants and faults in the energy field of the surrounding neighbourhood. What had us stumped initially, is that you have moved into a newly built home and we could not detect any significant faults in the field of the surrounding area. But the fact remains, we do perceive some negative energy residing in the family room.

When we investigated your case, I was detecting relationship problems within the children, which we discussed over the phone. Christine has been perceiving imbalances with male energy and wondered if there were relationship problems on Margaret's father's side. We have been getting little pieces of the puzzle without recognising the big picture because your situation is a little different to what we commonly deal with. Hence the questions to get some greater understanding of the family dynamics and what may have changed. Anyway, we suggest that the explosive episode in regards to the party arrangements for Margaret's mother, initiated the energy you now have locked inside the home. The energy/entity has been created by unbalanced family dynamics, albeit extreme in nature. So then, it resides in that particular room because it is a point of family focus.

So what to do? It would be logical to think that simply clearing that energy would put an end to the problem, but it's not that straight forward. Various aspects, from multiple players and energetic relationships, all conspire to hold that energy in the home, albeit unconsciously. But then again, there is also the potential for malicious intent to be involved at some level. This is where we get into the realms of a curse, but from our perspective it's not quite at that level. We do not want to point the finger at any one player, as it's too complex for that and is counter-productive. I also believe there is some imbalance or influence from the mother's ancestral line of Margaret that is aggravating the situation. Exactly what that may be is unknown at this time, and we might not ever fully understand it. You could argue that some unresolved issue from generations in the past has now exploded into the present day, due to the right conditions being present within the family. We believe that Margaret needs to be the focus of healing sessions to unravel all the threads that hold the energy in the home. Our intent would be to clear the ancestral line and deal with any imbalances that hold negative connections between family members. This is likely to require emotional and mental healing, and may go back to a young age. On the surface, it would seem that the energetic relationship between Margaret and Robert (brother) needs particular attention, but where we go at the time of a session is unknown...we just have to follow the threads. Clearing the energetic imbalances should offer the opportunity to repair relationships between Margaret and affected family members, as well as clearing the energy in the home. However, some bridge building will need to be done on your part, as it's not our role to create a perfect family.

In the end, it was agreed that two distant healing sessions would be appropriate. What we discovered in the sessions, were influences coming down both the ancestral lines of the mother and father, which included aspects of anger and brutality. These negative influences were quite obviously impacting all the family members involved; it was obvious in their character. All the animosity and anger, among other emotions, exploded in a family argument over the arrangements of a birthday party. This manifested a very nasty entity into existence. What is interesting is that the creation of this, had it's origins nine years in the past when circumstances initiated the tensions within the family that would continue to build.

Along with clearing the ancestral lines, there were a number of very negative cords attached to Margaret that were actually causing physical pain. Headaches were also a problem due to the unbalanced dynamics. Having dealt with all that, and more, it was only then that we could dissolve the entity in the home. The relationships within the family in future, is now totally dependant on them. The invisible influences that were impacting them have been cleared. This case is a good example of how human emotions can affect our health and the environment around us.

As with all the information we publish in our articles and website, or present in our trainings, the reader is not expected to automatically believe what is offered. All I ask is that the information be considered. Where possible I include references to other credible sources. Much of what is presented is our opinion, information from our Guides, and interpretation of experiences. The only proof we have is in the results we achieve for our clients. We also acknowledge that what may be relevant today will change, as everything evolves.

It is the readers and/or clients responsibility to do their own research and seek professional medical advice in every instance. Any individual who has a specific health problem or is taking medications must first seek advice from his or her personal physician or health care provider before making any changes to their treatment. Do not cease any medication without medical advice. This information or any associated text is not designed as a substitute for any form of medical treatment or advice.