

We cannot live only for ourselves. A thousand fibers connect us with our fellow men; and among those fibers, as sympathetic threads, our actions run as causes, and they come back to us as effects.

Herman Melville (1819-1891); American novelist.

Aspects of Soul Connection

In regards to birthing, our understanding is that the spirit of a new being connects to the biological body at the time of conception. It connects, but does not become fully embodied. I guess that would be difficult as the biological mass is still developing. Fundamentally there is no set time as to when the spirit of a new child will settle permanently in the fully developed body. It comes down to choice, and the spirit may choose to experience the physical birth or may not. Full settling or adjustment into the physical may be some weeks, months or even years after the birth. In the meantime, the spirit will come and go, making adjustments and I suppose some last minute preparations. Interesting thought isn't it?

When I asked at what point is the memory locked with the ego taking over, I was given this reply. "The memory is locked when the spirit finalises its choice of genetic material or DNA. The spirit continues to organise its gene pool even after the physical birth. Only when this is done, does full embodiment by the spirit occur and the memory is locked. The amount of retained memory varies for each individual. On rare occasions, full adjustment or embodiment does not occur, which can lead to disruptions or imbalances in life."

A distant healing session brought to light another aspect of human existence we had not considered before. That's one of an existence without a Spirit as commonly accepted. It is generally acknowledged that we enter into an existence in the earth realm, or incarnate if you like, as a human being with an individual Spirit or Soul. That is to say, a spiritual energy, or consciousness, makes the choice to experience an existence as a human and devotes a portion of its essence to that choice.

This essence then, is the spirit connected to the body, or an aspect of the physical form used to experience life on earth. That spirit then, although a particular vibrational aspect of the being, is free to make its own choices. The spirit communicates to the body via the unconscious mind. The spirit is connected to all there is via its higher self or true self and has a level of awareness or consciousness.

Compare this to a rock on earth that is also connected to all there is, or the Source, via a universal energy connection. Now consider that it's possible for spirit, or some spiritual essence, to have an existence as a human body; not a vibrational aspect that coexists with the physical and separate at the same time. It is not experiencing life through the body, but is the body. It does not have a higher or true self connecting it to Source. It is connected directly to Source, perhaps much the same way as the rock.

According to our Guides, this situation is not very common but does occur, as we discovered. You would be forgiven for wondering what sort of human being this scenario would proffer. What level of awareness would they have? Would they be like lifeless zombies? The answer is that they may have very little awareness or consciousness, and then again, they could be the most important person on the planet connected directly to the Source and all its knowledge, a person here to teach us some important lessons. In reality, any level of awareness in between these two opposites is possible. It was in dealing with the ancestors of our client that we crossed paths with a past life existence without a spirit. There were some imbalances associated with this existence that was affecting the whole genetic line. It was not the sole reason but an added complication. Having resolved all the complexities, there was a definite healing affect on that genetic line.

Just when you think you've seen it all, the Universe delivers yet another lesson.

As with all the information we publish in our articles and website, or present in our trainings, the reader is not expected to automatically believe what is offered. All I ask is that the information be considered. Where possible I include references to other credible Sources. Much of what is presented is our opinion, information from our Guides, and interpretation of experiences. The only proof we have is in the results we achieve for our clients. We also acknowledge that what may be relevant today will change, as everything evolves.

It is the readers and/or clients responsibility to do their own research and seek professional medical advice in every instance. Any individual who has a specific health problem or is taking medications must first seek advice from his or her personal physician or health care provider before making any changes to their treatment. Do not cease any medication without medical advice. This information or any associated text is not designed as a substitute for any form of medical treatment or advice.

